H.R. 3747
Bainbridge Island Japanese-American Memorial Study Act of 2002

As ordered reported by the House Committee on Resources on September 12, 2002

H.R. 3747 would direct the Secretary of the Interior to conduct a special resource study of the Eagledale Ferry Dock on Bainbridge Island in the state of Washington. The study would determine the national significance of the site and the feasibility and suitability of establishing it as a unit of the National Park System. The bill would require the Secretary to report on its findings and recommendations within one year of receiving funds.

Assuming appropriation of the necessary amounts, CBO estimates that implementing H.R. 3747 would cost the federal government about $200,000 over the next year to complete the required study and report. The bill would not affect direct spending or receipts; therefore, pay-as-you-go procedures would not apply.

H.R. 3747 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments.
