H.R. 1021
Miles Land Exchange Act of 1998

As cleared by the Congress on October 9, 1998

CBO estimates that this legislation would have no significant impact on the federal budget. H.R. 1021 could affect offsetting receipts, but CBO estimates that any such effects would be negligible.

H.R. 1021 provides that if a parcel of nonfederal land known as the “Miles parcel” adjacent to the Routt National Forest in Colorado is conveyed to the United States, then the Secretary of Agriculture is directed to assign to the person conveying that parcel all right, title, and interest to certain federal land within the Routt National Forest. Both parcels are about 84 acres in size. H.R. 1021 would adjust the boundaries of the Routt National Forest to reflect the land exchange once it is completed.

According to the U.S. Forest Service, some holders of grazing permits currently operate on the federal land to be exchanged. These permits generate a small amount of offsetting receipts to the federal government, but the land that would be acquired by the government would also likely be used for grazing. CBO estimates that any effects on offsetting receipts from enacting H.R. 1021 would be negligible.
