H.R. 4114
Migratory Bird Treaty Reform Act of 2004

As ordered reported by the House Committee on Resources on May 5, 2004

SUMMARY

H.R. 4114 would amend the Migratory Bird Treaty Act to clarify that only species that are native to the United States are protected under that act, which governs the conservation of migratory birds. Title II of the bill would reauthorize funding for projects carried out under the Neotropical Migratory Bird Conservation Act through fiscal year 2008. (The current authorization to fund this program expires after fiscal year 2005.) The Secretary of the Interior uses this funding primarily to help finance research and conservation programs in North and South America.

Assuming appropriation of the authorized amounts, CBO estimates that implementing title II would cost $30 million over the 2006-2009 period. We estimate that enacting title I would have no significant effect on the federal budget. Enacting the legislation would not affect direct spending or receipts. H.R. 4114 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA) and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments.

ESTIMATED COST TO THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

The estimated budgetary impact of H.R. 4114 is shown in the following table. For this estimate, CBO assumes that the entire amounts authorized by the bill will be appropriated for each fiscal year. Outlay estimates are based on recent spending patterns for conservation programs. The cost of this legislation falls within budget function 300 (natural resources and environment).
