

CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE COST ESTIMATE

May 8, 2012

H.R. 2008

Keeping Politics Out of Federal Contracting Act of 2011

As ordered reported by the House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform on April 26, 2012

H.R. 2008 would prohibit federal agencies from requiring existing or potential contractors to submit information concerning any political contributions to the government, or from using political contributions as a factor in awarding contracts. According to the General Services Administration, while there is a draft executive order that would require agencies to collect information regarding a contractor's or potential contractor's political contributions, agencies are not currently collecting such information. CBO estimates that implementing H.R. 2008 would not require agencies to make a significant change in the contracting process and thus would not have a significant impact on the federal budget.

Enacting the bill could affect direct spending by agencies not funded through annual appropriations; therefore, pay-as-you-go procedures apply. CBO estimates, however, that any net increase in spending by those agencies would be negligible. Enacting H.R. 2008 would not affect revenues.

H.R. 2008 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act and would not affect the budgets of state, local, or tribal governments.

The CBO staff contact for this estimate is Matthew Pickford. This estimate was approved by Theresa Gullo, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.
