H.R. 6370
Oregon Surplus Federal Land Act of 2008

As ordered reported by the House Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure on July 31, 2008

H.R. 6370 would require the U.S. Coast Guard to transfer to the Department of the Interior (DOI) about 24 acres of federal land in Coos County, Oregon. The land is home to the Cape Arago Light Station. DOI would be required to hold the land in trust for the Confederated Tribes of the Coos, Lower Umpqua, and Siuslaw Indians of Oregon.

Based on information from the Coast Guard and DOI, CBO estimates that implementing H.R. 6370 would have no significant effect on the federal budget. The transfer of the property from one federal agency to another would not affect administrative costs. Further, the land does not currently generate any receipts and is not expected to be sold within the next 10 years.

H.R. 6370 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments.
