

CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE COST ESTIMATE

March 22, 2017

H.R. 1219 Supporting America's Innovators Act of 2017

As ordered reported by the House Committee on Financial Services on March 9, 2017

Under current law, the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) exempts certain issuers of securities from the requirement to register as an investment company and some regulations that apply to investment companies. H.R. 1219 would expand that exemption to include a broader set of issuers.

Based on an analysis of information from the SEC about the current scope of the exemption, CBO estimates that implementing H.R. 1219 would have no significant effect on the agency's costs or operations because only a relatively small number of companies would qualify for the broader exemption. Moreover, the SEC is authorized to collect fees sufficient to offset its annual appropriation; therefore, CBO estimates that the net effect on discretionary spending would be negligible, assuming appropriation actions consistent with that authority.

Enacting H.R. 1219 would not affect direct spending or revenues; therefore, pay-as-you-go procedures do not apply. CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 1219 would not increase net direct spending or on-budget deficits in any of the four consecutive 10-year periods beginning in 2028.

H.R. 1219 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act and would not affect the budgets of state, local, or tribal governments.

On March 22, 2017, CBO transmitted a cost estimate for S. 444, the Supporting America's Innovators Act of 2017, as reported by the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs on March 13, 2017. The two bills are similar and CBO's estimate of their budgetary effects is the same.

The CBO staff contact for this estimate is Stephen Rabent. The estimate was approved by H. Samuel Papenfuss, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.
