H.Res. 500 as reported, provides for the consideration of the Department of the Interior, Environment, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2018 (H.R. 3354), with an amendment in the nature of a substitute consisting of the text contained in Rules Committee Print 115-31 (RCP115-31), as modified by RCP 115-32 and the amendment printed in Part A of H.Rept. 115-295.

Divisions A-H of Rules Committee Print 115-31 (RCP 115-31), the Make America Secure and Prosperous Appropriations Act, 2018, contain, with certain exceptions, the text of the following bills reported in the House of Representatives: H.R. 3354 (Interior and Environment); H.R. 3268 (Agriculture); H.R. 3267 (Commerce, Justice, Science); H.R. 3280 (Financial Services); H.R. 3355 (Homeland Security); H.R. 3358 (Labor, HHS, Education); H.R. 3362 (State, Foreign Operations); H.R. 3353 (Transportation, HUD).

Divisions I-M, as added by RCP 115-32, would incorporate the text of H.R. 3219, the Make America Secure Appropriations Act, 2017, as passed by the House of Representatives on July 27, 2017.

In addition, the amendment printed in Part A of H.Rept. 115-295 would amend RCP 115-31 to strike an $876 million rescission to the Federal Emergency Management Agency's Disaster Relief Fund (Division E; Homeland Security), and increase a rescission to the Department of Energy's Advanced Technology Vehicle Manufacturing Loan Program (Division G; State, Foreign Operations) by the same amount.

- a. In fiscal year 2018, most discretionary budget authority is subject to limits as described in the Budget Control Act of 2011 (P.L. 112-25). In its Sequestration Update Report: August 2017, CBO estimated that those limits would total $1,064,806 million—$549,057 million for defense programs and $515,749 million for nondefense programs.
  - b. Designated pursuant to section 251(b)(2) of the Deficit Control Act; spending limits for fiscal year 2018 would be adjusted to accommodate these amounts.
  - c. CBO estimates that if the Make America Secure and Prosperous Appropriations Act, 2018 (RCP 115-31), as amended by RCP 115-32 and by the amendment printed in Part A of H.Rept. 115-295 were enacted in its current form, the amount of discretionary budget authority provided for defense programs for fiscal year 2018 would exceed its limit by approximately $72 billion and therefore would require a sequestration. However, the authority to determine whether a sequestration is required and, if so, how to make the necessary cuts in budget authority rests with the Office of Management and Budget.
  - d. Pursuant to sections 1001-1004 of the 21st Century Cures Act (P.L. 114-255), certain funding provided to the Food and Drug Administration and the National Institutes of Health in 2017 through 2026 shall not count for the purposes of estimates under the Congressional Budget Act or the Deficit Control Act. For fiscal year 2018, the amounts shown above do not include $1,056 million in budget authority and $775 million in outlays: $60 million in budget authority and $22 million in outlays for Division B (Agriculture), and $996 million in budget authority and $753 million in outlays for Division F (Labor-HHS-Education).
  - e. Certain provisions included in Division D (Financial Services) would result in a change in revenues: Section 111 would prohibit the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) from using any funds to implement or enforce collection of individual responsibility payments levied under the Affordable Care Act and related reporting requirements; section 114 would prohibit the IRS from implementing or enforcing IRS Notice 2017-10; and section 116 would prohibit the IRS from making determinations that a church is not exempt from taxation for participating in political activities. At this time, CBO and JCT cannot complete an analysis of those provisions, but expect that section 111 would result in a significant (greater than $500,000) loss of revenue in each of fiscal years 2018 and 2019; that section 114 would result in a significant loss of revenue; and that section 116 would result in a loss of revenue of less than $1 million.
  - f. Title IX of Division D (Financial Services) would: amend the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act and other laws governing regulation of the financial industry; allow financial institutions, under certain circumstances, to be exempt from a variety of regulations; make numerous other changes to the authorities of the agencies that regulate the financial industry; and change how the operations of various governmental regulatory agencies are funded. On net, CBO estimates that enacting Title IX would increase the federal deficit by $56 million in 2018 ($34 million in lower direct spending outlays, and revenue losses of $90 million). Over the 2018-2027 period, federal deficits would decline by $24.2 billion (a reduction in direct spending outlays of $17.4 billion, and an increase in revenues of $6.8 billion), CBO estimates. Those amounts are not shown in this table.
  - g. Division E (Homeland Security) would provide $437 million in budget authority for fiscal year 2018 to the Department of Homeland Security—Customs and Border Protection—Procurement, Construction, and Improvements account; Division M, the Department of Homeland Security Border Infrastructure Construction Appropriations Act, 2018, would provide an additional $1,571 million in budget authority to the same account for a total of $2,007 million between the two divisions.
  - h. Section 227 of Division F (Labor, HHS, Education) would delay implementation of the recommendations of the United States Preventive Services Task Force with respect to breast cancer screening, mammography, and prevention. CBO's preliminary estimate is that enacting the delay would increase direct spending (budget authority and outlays) by $14 million in fiscal year 2019 and by $6 million in fiscal year 2020. In addition, CBO estimates that section 227 would decrease revenues by $23 million in fiscal year 2019 (of which $6 million would be off-budget) and would decrease revenues by $9 million in fiscal year 2020 (of which $2 million would be off-budget).
  - i. Two provisions in Division F (Labor, HHS, Education), one in section 527 and one in the appropriation for the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services Program Management would prohibit spending funds (either provided in the bill, or collected from fees associated with qualified health plans offered through the marketplaces) to implement, administer, enforce, or further the Affordable Care Act, with certain exceptions. At this time, CBO and JCT are unable to complete an analysis of those provisions, but expect that such prohibitions would result in a significant reduction in direct spending and revenues in fiscal year 2018 and over the 2018-2027 period. A portion of the revenue decreases would come from off-budget revenues in fiscal year 2018 and over the 2018-2027 period. At the direction of the House Committee on the Budget, the budgetary effects of the provisions are considered to be direct spending and revenues, and would not count as discretionary spending for purposes of House consideration.
  - j. Section 7069(d) of Division G (State, Foreign Operations), as amended, would rescind almost $1,966 million from amounts provided in Public Law 110-329 for the Advanced Technology Vehicle Manufacturing Loan Program. Those amounts were originally designated as an emergency requirement pursuant to S.Con.Res. 21 and S.Con.Res. 70, the concurrent resolutions on the budget for fiscal years 2008 and 2009, respectively. By scoring convention, rescissions of amounts previously designated as emergency funds pursuant to a concurrent resolution on the budget generally do not offset regular appropriations. However, as directed by the House Committee on the Budget, CBO is counting the budgetary effects of the rescission as a reduction in regular, nondefense discretionary budget authority for fiscal year 2018.
