Unauthorized Appropriations and Expiring Authorizations

(In This Version, Appendix Material Is Sorted by House Authorizing Committee)
Notes

Numbers in the tables may not add up to totals because of rounding.

In separate versions of this report, the public laws in the appendixes are displayed in three ways—by House authorizing committee, by Senate authorizing committee, and by appropriations subcommittee. Each entry is listed only once—generally under the primary committee to which the bill was referred.

Questions about the report should be directed to Janet Airis at (202) 226-2850.
Unauthorized Appropriations and Expiring Authorizations

Overview
The Congressional Budget Office (CBO) reports each January to the Congress on the following:

- All programs and activities funded for the current fiscal year for which authorizations of appropriations have expired, and
- All programs and activities for which authorizations of appropriations will expire during the current fiscal year.

The requirement for that report is specified in section 202(e)(3) of the Congressional Budget and Impoundment Control Act of 1974 (Congressional Budget Act).¹

The Role of Authorizations
The term “authorization” is used to describe two types of laws. One is an “organic,” or “enabling,” statute, which creates a federal agency, establishes a federal program, prescribes a federal function, or provides for a particular federal obligation or expenditure within a program. That type of authorization may allow a federal agency, program, or function to continue indefinitely or only for a specific period. Such an authorization may provide an agency with the authority to obligate and spend federal funds in the form of direct, or mandatory, spending, or it may simply specify a purpose for which a subsequent appropriation may be made available.

This report focuses on the second type of law described by the term “authorization”: a specific provision that authorizes the appropriation of funds (generally providing for what is known as discretionary spending) to carry out the program or function established in the enabling statute. Such a provision constitutes guidance to the Congress regarding the amount of funding that may be necessary to implement the enabling statute. An authorization of appropriations may be contained in an enabling statute or may be provided separately. Such an authorization may set a specific dollar amount (definite authorization) or allow the appropriation of “such sums as may be necessary” (indefinite authorization), and it may be annual, multiyear, or permanent.

For the purposes of this report, an appropriation is considered unauthorized when it is made available for a program after that program's authorization of appropriations has expired. This report does not address appropriations that have never been authorized. House and Senate rules—dating from the 19th century—contain restrictions on the consideration of appropriations that are unauthorized, although the rules and their application are different.² Whether an appropriation is unauthorized and whether it is a violation of a House or Senate rule are determined by the Speaker of the House or the Presiding Officer of the Senate, respectively, on the basis of advice from the respective House’s Office of the Parliamentarian. Although this report is intended to aid the Congress by identifying those authorizations of appropriations that have already expired or will expire this year, it is not and should not be considered definitive with respect to the application of House or Senate rules.

¹. See H. Rept. 99-433, at 114 (1985), the conference report accompanying the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985, which amended the Congressional Budget Act to include the requirement for this report. The stated purpose of the requirement is “to help Congress use the early months of the year to adopt authorizing legislation that must be in place before the regular appropriation bills can be considered.”

Listing of Unauthorized Appropriations and Expiring Authorizations

This report covers all programs funded through the annual appropriation process that at one time had an explicit authorization of appropriations that has expired (see Appendix A) or that will expire this year (see Appendix B). Each listing includes the number and name of the public law containing the last authorization, the last year in which the authorization was in effect, and the amount (definite or indefinite) authorized in that year. In separate versions of this report, the listings of public laws in the appendixes are displayed in three ways—by House authorizing committee, by Senate authorizing committee, and by appropriations subcommittee. Each entry is listed only once, generally under the primary committee to which the bill was referred.

In general, House and Senate rules require the appropriations committees, in their reports on general appropriations bills, to identify any programs that are funded in the bills but lack an authorization—including programs for which an explicit authorization of appropriations has never been enacted. This CBO report, as specified by law, is narrow in scope: It covers only programs that at one time had an explicit authorization that either has expired or is scheduled to expire this year. Many laws also establish programs with an authorization of appropriations that does not expire. The reports of the appropriations committees as well as this report exclude programs with that type of permanent authorization.

The information in this report is drawn from CBO’s Legislative Classification System, a database containing all public laws that include nonpermanent authorizations of appropriations—up to and including laws enacted during the second session of the 112th Congress.

Programs Funded in Fiscal Year 2013 With Expired Authorizations of Appropriations

Appendix A lists programs and activities funded by an appropriation for fiscal year 2013 whose authorization has expired. However, as of the publication date of this report, no full-year appropriation acts have been signed into law for fiscal year 2013. All programs normally covered by those acts are currently funded by a continuing resolution (Public Law 112-175), which expires on March 27, 2013. Therefore, this report omits amounts and totals of unauthorized appropriations for 2013.

Several laws enacted in 2012 provided long-term reauthorizations for agencies or programs with annual appropriations, including the Moving Ahead for Progress in the 21st Century Act (P.L. 112-141, through 2014) and the Food and Drug Administration Safety and Innovation Act (P.L. 112-144, through 2017).

Authorizations of Appropriations That Expire On or Before September 30, 2013

For certain programs and activities, the authorization of appropriations will expire by the end of fiscal year 2013. (Appendix B shows the amount authorized to be appropriated in 2013 for the expiring programs and activities, not the amounts actually appropriated for that year.)

Definite authorizations that will expire by the end of this fiscal year total about $686 billion (see Tables 1, 2, and 3). Most of that amount, about $634 billion, is authorized in a single law, the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2013 (P.L. 112-239). Typically, authorizations for defense funding are renewed annually. Some of the other definite authorizations for programs that are expiring at the end of 2013 include those for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration ($20 billion), provisions in the America COMPETES Reauthorization Act of 2010 ($16.1 billion), and provisions in the Rail Safety Improvement Act of 2008 ($3.8 billion). Title VII of the American Taxpayer Relief Act of 2012 (P.L. 112-240) extended all of the expiring provisions in the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 until the end of 2013 ($2.5 billion). Lawmakers provided an authorization for the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families Program through March 27, 2013, in the Continuing Appropriations Resolution, 2013 (P.L. 112-175).
